Sir Edward Morris, the opportunity was taken of visiting the Military Cemetery where Clifford lies among so many who have paid the great toll, and we placed a wreath on the grave.

It may be of some comfort to you to know that each plot is carefully tended and, as progress of time allows, develops into an individual flower garden. The official designation of the plot is A 76 at the British Military Cemetery, Etaples, and is under the care of Grave Commissioner No. 4.

If I can be of any further assistance to you, I beg that you will command me.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Rendell,

I have received your letter 13/7/16. Permit me to offer my sincere sympathy in your irreparable loss, the deep regret of which is shared by those who were associated with Clifford. It is additionally sad to realise that since your letter was written, the hope to which one clings has been so cruelly superseded.

I have sent the proceeds of the money order to Miss Mary Rendell, as doubtless that would be your wish.
